

THE MESSAGE IS VERY MILD

On Question Of Corporations, But Radical As To Necessity Of An Elastic Currency.

ROOSEVELT TOUCHES EVERYTHING

That Pertains To National Life. In His Annual Message
To Congress--Wants Navy Increased--Shows
Needs Of The Army.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, Dec. 3.—President Roosevelt's annual message to congress is a voluminous document of nearly 30,000 words, by far the longest message he has ever submitted to congress. The opening subject of the message is the financial condition of the country, and for which the president lays much of the blame upon unscrupulous stock speculators, and says:

"In any large body of men, however, there are some who are dishonest, and if the conditions are such that these men prosper or commit their misdeeds with impunity, their example is a very evil thing for the community. Where these men are business men of great sagacity and of temperament both unscrupulous and reckless, and where the conditions are such that they act without supervision or control and at first without effective check from public opinion, they delude many innocent people into making investments or embarking in kinds of business that are really unscrupulous. When the misdeeds of these successfully dishonest men are discovered, suffering comes not only upon them, but upon the innocent men whom they have misled. It is a painful awakening, whenever it occurs, and naturally, when it does occur, those who suffer are apt to forget that the longer it was deferred the more painful it would be. In the effort to punish the guilty it is both wise and proper to endeavor so far as possible to minimize the damage to those who have been misled by the guilty. Yet it is not possible to refrain because of such distress from striving to put an end to the misdeeds that are the ultimate cause of the suffering, and, as a means to that end, there is no reason why the government should not take steps to punish those responsible for them. There may be honest differences of opinion as to many governmental policies; but surely there can be no such differences as to the need of unflinching perseverance in the way of successful dishonesty."

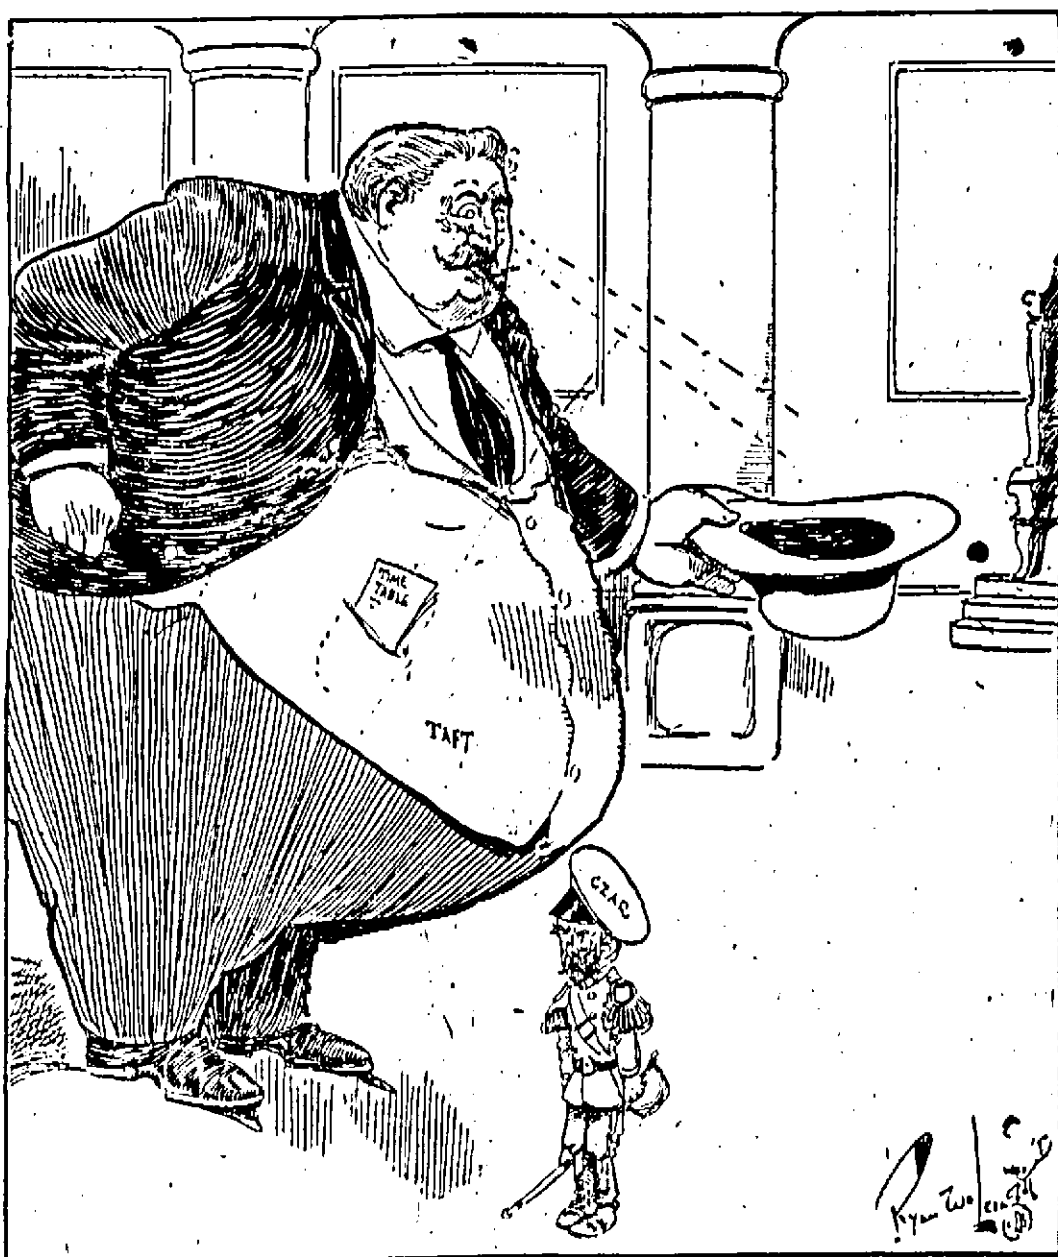

He quotes at length from his message of last year in which he advocated federal control of corporations doing interstate business, and believes that in such control would be found the remedy for over-speculation in the way of successful dishonesty. He believes have brought about the present financial conditions, he says:

"Our steady aim should be by legislation, cautiously and carefully undertaken, but resolutely persevered in, to assert the sovereignty of the national government by affirmative action."

"This is only in form an innovation. In substance it is merely a restoration; for from the earliest times such regulation of industrial activities has been recognized in the action of the law-making bodies; and all that I propose is to meet the changed conditions in such manner as will prevent the commonwealth abdicating the power it has always possessed, not only in this country, but also in England before and since this country became a separate nation."

Federal Control of Railroads Is Favored.

"No small part of the trouble that we have come from carrying to an extreme the national virtue of self-reliance, of independence in initiative and action, it is wise to conserve this virtue and to provide for its fullest exercise, compatible with, seeing that liberty does not become a liberty to wrong others. Unfortunately, this is the kind of liberty that the lack of all effective regulation inevitably breeds. The founders of the constitution provided that the national government should have complete and sole control of interstate commerce. There was then practically no interstate business save such as was conducted by water, and this the national government at once proceeded to regulate in thoroughgoing and effective fashion. Conditions have now so wholly changed that the interstate commerce by water is insignificant compared with the amount that goes by land, and almost all big business concerns are now engaged in interstate commerce. As a result, it can be but partially and imperfectly controlled or regulated by the action of any one of the several states; such action inevitably tending to be either too drastic or else too lax, and in either case ineffective for purposes of justice. Only the national government can in thoroughgoing fashion exercise the needed control. This does not mean that there should be any extension of federal authority, for such authority already exists under the constitution in (Continued on Page 3.)

ARGUMENTS TODAY IN NAT'L RIVER AND "BALTIC POOL" CASE HARBOR CONGRESS

Demurrer to Complaint of Cosmopolitan Shipping Co. is up Before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—The demurrer filed to the complaint of the Cosmopolitan Shipping company against the Hamburg-American, North German Lloyd and other steamship companies alleged to have formed the so-called "Baltic pool" came up for argument before the Interstate Commerce Commission today. This is the case in which the defendant steamship lines are alleged by the Cosmopolitan Shipping company, a Philadelphia concern, with having entered into an agreement for the pooling of east-bound export traffic, which determined the ultimate rates for forwarding merchandise from manufacturing centers of the United States to points in Europe. In their demurrer the defendant companies ask that the complaint be dismissed on the ground that the Interstate Commerce Commission has not under the laws of the United States jurisdiction of the subject matter of the complaint or power to proceed against the defendants.

Will Be Fought Out in Courts.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Austin, Texas, Dec. 3.—The much-discussed suit brought by the State of Texas to oust the Pullman Palace Car company from the state unless it takes out a permit to do business in Texas is on the docket for hearing today before Judge Wilcox in the Twenty-sixth District Court. The Pullman company has a capital stock of $100,000,000 and under the Texas corporation laws would be required to pay $100,000 for a permit to do business in this state. The company has threatened to withdraw all its cars from Texas if the ouster proceedings are pushed.

tire Loss but No Lives
Were Lost.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Hatifax, N. S., Dec. 3.—The Canadian Pacific line steamer Mount Temple, which struck on a ledge during a thick snow storm early yesterday, will be a total loss. Rocks have pierced the steamer's bottom, directly beneath the engine room, and the terrible pounding she has sustained since she stranded has further damaged the hull. The work of transferring the mainland the 480 passengers and members of the crew who remained on the ironbound island, took all night and was resumed today. It was expected by tonight all would have reached this city.

phia is entertaining for several days
the annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, an organization founded in 1885 for the promotion of the political and social sciences and which now has membership extending throughout the country. The present meeting is attracting more than the usual amount of public attention from the fact that "The Lessons of the Financial Crisis" is one of the principal topics of discussion. Among the eminent speakers who are to be heard on this subject are Comptroller William H. Ridgely, Frank S. Vanderbilt, Jacob H. Schiff
and Isaac N. Sellman.

Poultry and Pot Stock Show.
Fort Worth, Texas, Dec. 3.—In the high class as well as the number and variety of exhibits the poultry and pot stock show which opened today under the auspices of the Fort Worth Poultry and Pot Stock association eclipses anything of its kind ever attempted before in this section. While the poultry department with its many exhibits of high bred fowl is naturally the chief attraction of the show there are many other features worthy of note. The dog show which has attracted prize-winning entries from many parts of the country, with the display of rabbits, Belgian hares, squirrels, cats and other varieties of pet stock is also above the average. The show will continue until Saturday.

nual reports, the discussion of proposed amendments to the constituofficers for the year. Another feature which will help to make the convention a notable one will be the dedication of the new Confederate Women's Home.

STEAMBOAT MEN TO FORM ORGANIZATION

Owners of River Craft Chafely Represented at Meeting in Washington—Want Separate Inspection Laws.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—A number of steamboat owners, representing chiefly the craft plying on the Mississippi river and its tributaries, gathered in Washington today to perfect
a permanent organization and to discuss matters of mutual concern. The meeting is somewhat in the nature of a preliminary to the National Rivers and Harbors Congress to convene here tomorrow, and in which the steamboat men are likewise interested. The owners of the river craft desire particularly a severance of inspection laws governing the lakes and gulf, and they also favor placing the inland river transportation traffic under the law of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

ing to $63. Superintendent Server and

BEEDLE GIVES OUT DRASTIC INTERVIEW

State Insurance Commissioner Writes
Paul Morton Law Must Be Adhered To.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 3.—In one of the most sensational and drastic letters that has yet appeared in the insurance laws dispute was made public this afternoon by Beedle, the commissioner of insurance. In a letter he has written to President Paul Morton of the Equitable Life, it is probable that Mr. Beedle's letter will further the movement of the large outside companies to do away with all business in Wisconsin, and that the Equitable and the New York Life will follow the lead of the Mutual Life in leaving the state. The letter is in answer to one of President Morton asking a series of questions. In answer to the question whether each foreign insurance company must state what portion of the surplus of the company, amounting to hundreds of millions in the big companies, belongs to the stockholders and what portion to the policyholders, Mr. Beedle replies that it is not sufficient to state that this question is now before the courts but must be answered definitively.
As to the section that each policy-holder upon demand may have a statement issued as to how much credit has been placed to his policy is also answered that the law is strictly determined on this matter and if the companies do not comply they must close doing business in the state. Mr.
Beedle's letter defines the state department is to take in the enforcement of the laws and shows it will be rigid. It is understood that the Northwestern Mutual and the Wisconsin Life are complacent to follow the requirements of the law and state that if all the money now used in paying premiums to outside companies remained in the state it would mean a difference of a hundred and twenty-five to a hundred and fifty thousand dollars in increased taxes for the state.

the Brown County Ministerial associaoperate with funeral directors and the livernymen to do away with Sunday funerals.

PAPER MILLS READY FOR A BIG BUSINESS

Think When Present Quietness Ends There Will Be Rush Work For All.

Appleton, Wis., Dec. 3.—"When the paper business gets another start there'll be no let up for months," said a prominent manufacturer today while talking of the present condition of the market and explaining the cause of the almost general shut down of mills in the middle west. At the present time there are about eight Wisconsin mills shut down and it is said that before the end of the present week more will be closed. This is the first time in ten years that so many paper mills of Wisconsin have been closed at the same time. Manufacturers are taking advantage of the present, one forced shut down and are placing their plants in readiness for a great output as soon as orders begin coming in again. One of the leading paper manufacturers of this valley explained the situation today as follows:

"Paper manufacturers do not deny there is very little business at these times, but all are looking for a great output in the near future. Jobs are not being put off for these days, but are being put off for the future. As soon as the mills are exhausted, then orders will begin coming in and when the mills are called upon to supply both the daily demand and to replenish the depleted stocks throughout the middle west, there will be nothing but work day and night for months around paper mills."

It was reported here today that the mills of Wisconsin were being closed according to a pre-arranged plan of the manufacturers. This being done in order to deplete the market, cause a greater demand and incidentally screw up the prices. This is emphatically denied by manufacturers, who declare the mills that are closed are shut down because of a slack business and for repairs.

Interesting Bits of News Picked Up Here and There at the National Capital

WILEY TO TEST DRINKS SOLD AT SODA FOUNTAINS

WASHINGTON.—By the authority vested in him by the government of the United States, Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief chemist of the department of agriculture, will attempt to turn twelve young men of good habits into "dope" addicts.

If he is successful the once immaculate twelve will be forced to go to a "dope" sanitarium at the expense of the government. If he fails he will acknowledge that his experiments have been futile.

For a long time Dr. Wiley has been looking with suspicion upon a number of drinks that are sold over the marble slabs of soda fountains. He has suspected and still suspects that many of them contain a large amount of what is commonly known as "dope." He has called for volunteers and 12 employees of the department have stepped forward. The experiments are to begin at once.

Each young man will devote his attention to a particular brand of "soft" drink. He will begin by drinking three glasses of his assigned beverage daily. The dose will be increased gradually. If he shows no symptoms of having acquired the drug habit, that particular brand will be regarded as harmless, and Dr. Wiley will cross it off his list of suspects. His experiment will have fallen short of success, but if the volunteer begins to take on the pallor of the drug fiend and shows an increased craving for the drink, Dr. Wiley will have been vindicated. The beverage will be to be used throughout the country, and the young "dope fiend" will be dispatched to a sanitarium to take the cure. In the progress of the experiments Dr. Wiley will test each member of the squad many times a day with wonderful instruments having long names ending in "graph," and the end of it all for the brave dozen is either failure or the "dope college."

BUREAU AND ARMY AT OUTS OVER TREATMENT OF UTES

AND now there is another case of the Indian bureau and the army being at outs on the proper treatment of the Indians. Captain Carter P. Johnson, than whom there isn't a better officer in the service, thinks it would be unwise to try to force the Utes to go to work by the semi-starvation method. The Indian bureau thinks that the withholding of rations is the best plan to make the Utes take up the shovel and the hoe.

Without any attempt to go into the merits of the present case, it may be said that the history of the country shows that where the army has been left to deal with the Indian in time of peace better results have been attained than when the civilian tried his hand at the dealing. The dead Indian is said to be the good Indian. The hungry Indian is always a bad Indian. If Captain Johnson gets a chance to feed the Utes and to treat them as he wants to treat them, it is a pretty safe assumption that he will have them at work within a week.

The army has always been called in to take a hand in Indian troubles when the civilians had done things that made the Indian want to fight. The army has thrashed the red out of hand time after time, and yet the Indian likes the soldier 99 per cent better than he likes the civilian. After the Sioux war of 1890-4 army officers were appointed as agents in many instances. Captain Charles G. Penny went from Fort Sheridan to the Pine Ridge agency and other officers were sent elsewhere, when Kicking Bear, Short Bull, Spotted Elk and some of the other Sioux who had known what it was to be hungry, and also, it is true, known what it was to go on the warpath, held a justification dance when the news reached them that army officers were to look after the feeding of their rations.

The chiefs expressed themselves as being certain that they would get a square deal from a soldier, or whatever the Sioux equivalent for a square deal is. The army officials in Washington desire that Captain Johnson be allowed to have his way with the Utes. The president stands with the Indian bureau in the matter. It is to be another case probably of long-distance regulating of a matter that might better be done by the men on the spot.

BLAME FOR BROWNSVILLE AFFAIR FINALLY PLACED

THE blame for the shooting in Brownsville, Tex., last year, which resulted in the killing of one man, the maiming of another, the dismissal from the army "without honor" of a whole battalion of colored soldiers, and the institution of one of the warmest political fights in recent history, has been definitely placed upon Company "H," of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, according to the annual report of Brig.-Gen. William Crozier, chief of ordnance of the army.

His conclusions, he says, were reached after a most careful and technical investigation, the object of which was to identify the rifles from which the bullets and cartridge cases, recovered in evidence, had been fired.

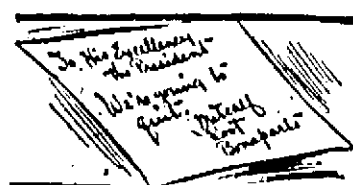

"With this end in view," he continued, "a trial was made at Springfield armory to determine the possibility of ascertaining from a microscopic examination of the gun marks on a fired cartridge case the rifle from which it had been fired. The trial developed the fact that such identification was possible by virtue of the characteristic marking on the various external surfaces of the cartridge case produced by the similar complementary markings in the chamber and on the breech mechanism of the rifle.

"Throughout all the cartridge cases recovered in evidence and all of the rifles which had been at Brownsville in the hands of troops at such times as would render it possible for the cartridge cases to have been fired from them were sent to the Springfield armory for examination. As a result, it was found that of the 39 cartridge cases in question 11 had been fired from the same rifle, eight from another rifle, 11 from another rifle and three from a fourth rifle, the remaining six having insufficient gun marks to classify them.

"The markings on the cartridge cases of each group were then compared with the markings produced by all of the above-mentioned rifles, through the medium of auxiliary cartridges fired at Springfield in each of the rifles. In this way it was found that the cartridge cases comprising groups one, two and three had been fired in rifles belonging to Company H, Twenty-fifth Infantry, and that cartridge cases of group four had probably also been fired from another of the rifles in the same company."

THREE CABINET MEMBERS LIKELY TO RETIRE SOON

AN important and, in a sense, a surprising change is imminent in the cabinet of President Roosevelt. From time to time in the past few months it has been rumored that both Secretary McCall of the navy and Attorney General Bonaparte of the department of justice were likely to retire from administration life. While the rumors have been denied, it is not unlikely that one, and perhaps both, of those officials may leave the cabinet before the president completes his present term.

That, however, is for the future, and the latest information as to a change in the cabinet affects neither Mr. Mc-

Call nor Mr. Bonaparte. It relates to the retirement of no less a personage than the secretary of state, Elihu Root. Mr. Root is not a well man. His health is impaired, and he is inclined to feel that he ought not to jeopardize his remaining strength, mental and physical, by the performance of the exacting duties of secretary of state.

It is not likely the change will take place before next spring, as Secretary Root has some matters he desires to bring to the attention of congress during the approaching session, but there is strong ground for the belief that it will take place within a comparatively few months.

It is a noticeable fact, that the melancholy individual who maintains that life is not worth living, always wears a chest protector and goggles.

WINTER RACE TALK.

Bright Outlook For the New Orleans (Running Tracks).

TURF WAR THING OF PAST.

Both Crescent City Tracks Are Practically Under One Management, Having Same Set of Officials—Some of the Horses Engaged.

By THOMAS F. CLARK.

The 1907-08 New Orleans racing season, which opened recently, promises to be the most profitable turf meeting the Crescent City has had in some years. Perfect harmony now exists between the promoters of the two tracks and the turf war is a thing of the past. Both the fair grounds and City park tracks are under one management, with one set of officials, and all racing is being conducted along business lines, so that the old fight may be forgotten. Molt J. Winn, who was general manager of the Empiro City track at Yonkers, N. Y., holds a similar position in New Orleans, ruling both tracks. Charles F. Price and Clarence McDowell are the steward and judge respectively.

As far as possible the same officials will continue all along the line for both clubs.

While there are no horses racing at the southern tracks of the class of McChesney or Ram's Horn to stand out prominently, a number of them are near to make class. Phlegor Charles Ellison's stable is considered to be one of the most formidable. The list embraces Yankee Girl, winner of many events in the east this season; Jacobin, Lancelotian, Tennessee and other shifty runners of three years old and upward, including Sir Navarre, the much exploited brother of Salvadora, for which Ellison paid $9,000 as a yearling. The trials in private at Memphis, Tenn., have been voted good enough by trainers to win in winter company.

Grimball, one of the horses Jerry Wernberg bought from the stable of YANKEE GIRL, CHARLES ELLISON'S STABLE WINNER.

James H. Keene, should make a useful plater at the southern tracks. He is fast and can run in any kind of going. Grimball was supposed to be one of the best two-year-olds in the Keene stable last fall.

There are close to 2,000 horses stabled at the two tracks. Granted that seven races will be started daily, this means that 847 races will be run this winter. More than half the horses will therefore leave without winning a purse.

The two tracks will alternate every two weeks until April 1, 1908, when the season comes to a close. The season will end at the fair grounds, thus reversing last year's division of dates.

The Crescent City Derby stands out as the richest of the stakes at the old track, likewise the most important. It is for three-year-olds and has $10,000 guaranteed value. It is over the mile and an eighth course and will be run March 14. The City Park Derby has a guaranteed value of $10,000 also, but is run over the mile and a quarter course. It comes March 21, one week after the other Derby.

Basket Ball at Harvard.
Conditions at Harvard warrant the belief that this year will be produced the fastest basket ball team the university has ever had. With four veterans of last season's quintet available, the Crimson indications point to the most successful season the sport has ever enjoyed at Cambridge. Allen, Brooks, Currie and Captain Brown of the 1906 team form a nucleus for an unusually fast team, and the best man from last year's freshman team should fill in the vacancy nicely.

Joe Sheehan, the former Boston Latin school captain and leader of the freshman two last year, and Wallace are picked for the varsity team.

Because of the faculty ruling on the number of outside games Harvard was obliged to retire from the Intercollegiate league.

No Boxing in Indiana.
Boxers in the middle west will be compelled to confine themselves to Milwaukee and Davenport, Ia., for purses in the future, as Indiana, a good state for contests, has been wiped off the pugilistic map.

Wrestling in Persia.
Wrestling is the popular sport in Persia. Great tournaments are held to decide supremacy of districts.

London, Dec. 3.—Six hundred Eng. Sporting club last evening saw their listmen in evening dress who filled tattooed idol, Gunner Molt, pride of the day and fortune of the National the degenerate English prize ring.

whipped easily by Tommy Burns of America, in ten rounds. Molt and his friends had boasted that the English fighter never had been whipped. They might as well have said that night that Molt had never before met a real live fighter.

The "Gunner" literally had no fight in him. Burns escaped almost unpunished. Tommy really was charitable in permitting the "Gunner" to remain in the ring ten rounds. He might easily have knocked out his huge tattooed opponent any time after the third round when he had taken the "Gunner's" measurements.

Molt, nearly a head taller than Burns and weighing fully fourteen pounds more, was the favorite with the aristocratic crowd. Burns, when he entered the ring, wearing a knot of stars and stripes about his waist, was faintly applauded. When Molt climbed through the ropes many of the youthful actions of aristocratic houses almost split their white gloves, so enthusiastic were they.

Among the throng surrounding the eighteen-foot ring were Lord Londale, Admiral Beaumont, Lord Dalmeny, Sir George Prescott and dozens of officers of the swagger regiments of the King's household.

All aristocrats thought the tattooed pride of the British army had a clinch. The third round ended before they discovered the "Gunner" was a dead one, and the tenth ended all hope.

CLEVER WORK OF POLICE OFFICERS

TWO CHICAGO CRIMINALS CAPTURED AT NORTH-WESTERN DEPOT.

WANTED FOR A HOLD-UP

Had Through Tickets to Spokane—Landed in City Lock-up on Request from Chicago Police.

It was nearly four this morning when City Marshal Appleby received a telephone message from Captain P. D. O'Brien of the Chicago police detective bureau asking him to arrest two criminals wanted for a daring hold-up in the Windy City who were thought to have left Chicago on the North-Western train at three, and here about six. A full description was given of the men wanted and Mr. Appleby went to the depot accompanied by Officers Morley and Mason and met the train. He found the men asleep in the smoking car and before they were fully awake they were landed on the platform in the custody of the three officers.

At the station they gave their names as Edward Stepper and John Schultz. Their only baggage was a dress-suit case. Stepper is a fine looking man, well dressed, while his companion resembles a genuine thug. Both men were armed and both had little black marks in their pockets, showing they were not amateurs at the work.

A telephone message announcing their capture brought a reply to hold them until an officer could arrive from Chicago and he is expected this afternoon. At first the men refused to go back without requisition papers, but later decided they would do so.

Aside from the two tickets to Spokane the men had some sixty dollars in money, a ladies' pocketbook and some jewelry. While nothing is known relative to their crime it is thought they were the two men who secured two hundred dollars in a daring hold-up in Chicago last night. They were evidently badly wanted by the Chicago police and their capture reflects credit upon the local department.

GIVEN SIX MONTHS AT COUNTY BASTILE

Alfred Denis and Alfred Kennison Treated with Clemency by Judge Field.

Because their story appeared to the heart of Judge Field, Alfred Denis of St. Malo, France, and Alfred Kennison of Vermont will spend the next six months the guest of Sheriff Fisher instead of going to state's prison for a term ranging from six months to three years. These are the men who broke into Mrs. Rollins' cellar near Brooklyn yesterday morning and were driven out by that lady armed with a rolling pin. They were brought into the courtroom yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Gillman of Brooklyn and taken into court at four-thirty. They told a story of being sailors on the Great Lakes who had been discharged at Duluth a few days ago at the close of the season. They claimed they were hungry and seeking no one about Mrs. Rollins' home and things to eat in the pantry had broken in, but left when told to by the lady of the house. In view of their story the Judge gave them the minimum sentence for housebreaking in daylight, six months in the county jail, and they will be released in time to get to a lake port in the summer and find work on the lakes.

TWILIGHTERS PLAN FOR MERRY EVENING

Entertainment Instead of Talk on Education Will Be the Order of the Evening Next Tuesday.

Education and the Schools was to be the topic of discussion at the Twilight Club meeting next Tuesday evening, but owing to the fact that a Mr. Cook of Illinois, who had given successful lectures in Kenosha and other neighboring cities and on whom the club was counting for an appearance here on that date, found that he would be unable to come, other arrangements have been deemed advisable.

There was great objection to the changing of the date of the meeting either to make it possible for this speaker to be here, or to avoid conflict with the Berlin Kaleid theatrical performance that evening, and a decision was finally reached to have an evening of entertainment and "stunts" along much the same line as one that proved successful on a former occasion. The arrangements have been entrusted to George McKee, Fred Canella, and H. H. Hays.

FREIGHT CARS HAVE BEGUN THEIR TRIPS

Rockford & Interurban Company Sent Out Its First Car of Freight This Morning.

The new freight depot of the Rockford Interurban company is now so far completed that freight is being received and the first car to leave from the freight depot proper went out this morning. The depot is built of red brick and is located in the middle of the first block south of the post office on S. Franklin street. The cars are all new ones purchased by the company especially for this work.

They are built like the usual express cars and will be steam heated so as to allow the carrying of perishable freight in the winter which would otherwise be injured by the cold. While the schedule of trains has not as yet been completely decided upon it is probable that a car will leave here in the morning returning at noon and a second will leave at noon returning at night. Packages can be sent by this service to all towns reached by the Rockford Interurban company. R. E. Cady has been placed in charge of the local office.

BIG STEAMER ON THE ROCKSMOUNT TEMPLE IS WRECKED ON NOVA SCOTIA COAST.

Passengers, Mostly Immigrants, Thrown Into Panic, But Are Taken Off In Safety.

Lunenburg, N. S., Dec. 3.—During a blinding snowstorm Monday the Canadian Pacific Railway company's steamship Mount Temple, bound from Antwerp to St. John, N. B., with 600 passengers, struck La Have iron-bound ledge, 15 miles south of Lunenburg, and may be a total loss. The passengers were being transferred on small steamers and tugs to Bridgewater and it was expected that all hands would be safely landed.

When the steamer struck the rocks there was much excitement among the passengers, most of whom are immigrants, and it was some time before Capt. Doochby and his officers could convince them that they were in no immediate danger.

The Mount Temple left Antwerp on November 20, and on the run across experienced much rough weather. Early Monday the big vessel encountered a snowstorm which made it impossible to see a ship's length ahead. The steamer ran too far to the westward and was fully 30 miles out of her course when she struck the ledge. The crash of the vessel on the rocks and the pounding of the surf caused consternation among the immigrants, especially the women, many of whom, with babies in their arms, ran wildly about the steamer, hysterically calling upon the officers and male passengers to save them. The sea was comparatively smooth at the time and when the weather cleared the excitement subsided.

Signals of distress were displayed and guns were fired for assistance, but several hours elapsed before the wreck was discovered. In the afternoon a score of tugs and other craft were sent from this town, La Have, Bridgewater and other nearby places. Information was also sent to Halifax, 60 miles distant, and the Canadian government officials there ordered the government steamer Lady Laurier to take on a supply of tents, clothing and provisions for the passengers on shore, it being anticipated that the few hotels and the private houses would be unable to accommodate as many as 600 persons.

The rescuing fleet had great difficulty in lying close to the Mount Temple, as the seas, breaking over the ledge, made the position of the smaller craft hazardous. The removal of the immigrants from the decks of the steamer to the smaller craft was slow work, and it was thought that it would be morning before the last of the passengers could be landed. As fast as the tugs received all the immigrants they could safely carry, they headed for Bridgewater, 14 miles from the wreck.

Sydney, N. S., Dec. 3.—The steamer Westgouche, of Quebec, is reported a total wreck on Cranberry Head. The crew is probably safe.

Boston, Dec. 3.—Three widows appeared in the supreme court Monday as claimants to the estate of the late Joseph P. Greenough, of this city, whose property is valued at $1,000,000. According to the testimony Greenough married Mary M. Higgins in 1874. It also appeared that he married Emma Eaton Pomeroy in 1886, and remarried her, after their divorce, in 1887. A third widow appeared in the person of Mary D. Kirklin, but the date of her marriage was not stated.

Ephraim Banning Is Dead.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Ephraim Banning, a widely known attorney, died at his residence, 685 Washington boulevard, his death was due to injuries suffered last Friday when he fell from a Madison street car at Robey street. Mr. Banning was 68 years old and senior member of the firm of Banning & Banning.

Mr. Taft Leaves Moscow.

Moscow, Dec. 3.—William H. Taft, the American secretary of war, left here Monday night for St. Petersburg. Prior to his departure he attended a dinner given in his honor by Gov. Gen. Guerschelmann, which was attended also by all the officers of the governor's staff.

Schaefer Defeats Sutton.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Jacob Schaefer remains the 18-1 balk line billiard champion. He defended the title successfully Monday night against George Sutton, from whom he won it last spring, defeating the big fellow at Orchestra hall by the score of 500 to 458.

Head of Sugar Trust Very Ill.

New York, Dec. 3.—Henry O. Havemeyer, president of the American Sugar Refining company, is seriously ill at his country home at Commack, L. I. He is suffering from an acute attack of indigestion and several physicians are in constant attendance.

What It Shows.
When a man says of another that he got his money easily because he married a girl with a fortune, it doesn't show that he is necessarily ignorant, but obviously single.

A Rejected Truth.
Revolutions of ages do not oft recover the loss of a rejected truth, for the want of which whole nations fare the worse.—John Milton.

The First Iron Ship.
The first iron ship was launched 120 years ago, in England, by John Wilkinson. The idea of building a large iron boat was laughed at, people arguing that it was against nature to expect iron to float on water.

Water Used by New Yorkers.
New Yorkers daily use 2,100,000 tons of water, enough to fill a trough 21 miles long, 60 feet wide and ten feet deep.

Early Croziers.
The earliest mention that is so far disclosed of the use of a crozier is of one carried by Ataldis, archbishop of Toluca, who died A. D. 933. An ancient Saxon or Norman font in Winchester cathedral has a very old representation of a bishop with a crozier, probably the earliest example to be found in England. A crozier of rude shape is cut on the tomb of Bartholomew, bishop of Exeter from 1161 to 1184.—Wood Craft.

FLEEK'S ANNEX

Owing to the constant increase in our Jewelry Dep't. and the crowded condition of our store, we have decided to close out our Art Department and hereafter continue with Jewelry and Music alone. This conclusion has been reached with no small amount of regret as this department of business has always been one of the most remunerative and pleasant. With the fact before us that we must have more room to properly display our Jewelry Department we have cleared out part of our piano room and for a few weeks will devote it to the Art Goods as an annex to our store. We will place in this room the entire line of Pictures and Frames of all kinds, Vases, Potteries, Statuary, China, Glass, Writing Sets, Smoking Sets, Japanese Goods, Brass Goods, Water Color Paintings, Bric-a-brac and many other articles.

For the purpose of closing these goods out quick we will make a bonifide reduction of 1-4 to 1-2 of Former Prices.

This will be a treat for the public, as you all well know what a high class line we have always carried. These goods will make the finest of Christmas presents and we advise you to call at once and make your selections and goods will be held for you until Christmas if you wish.

PARK AND PLEASURE DRIVE ASSOCIATION

Elected Dr. C. G. Dwight President at First Annual Meeting—Movement for Membership is Next Move—Wide World is Watching.

There was a good attendance at the first annual meeting of the Janesville
Park and Pleasure Drive association
which was called to order by Mayor
S. H. Hodges at the city hall last evening. S. M. Smith acted as secretary and Hon. John M. Whithead outlined the purpose and plans of the organization. The by-laws of the Massonic association, with a few minor changes to fit the local needs, were adopted and the annual dues were fixed at $10. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Dr. C. G. Dwight; Vice President, Thomas S. Nolan; Secretary, Samuel M. Smith; Treasurer, Frank
H. Jackson; Board of Directors—
Mayor S. H. Hodges, John M. Whitehead, George S. Parker, A. P. Lovejoy, M. O. Mount, H. H. Hiles, Dr. C.
G. Dwight, S. M. Smith, and a member to be chosen by the common council, as provided by law. Dr. Dwight told his associates that as a result of the widespread publicity given the movement at its inception, he had received inquiries from numerous civic societies in other cities as well as the president of the national federation, landscape gardeners in near and remote parts of the country, and magazines such as Country Life in America, which are devoted to outdoor amusement. The next move will be an earnest campaign for membership in the organization and this will be launched when the original committee reports to the Twilight Club. After the council has elected its member, an executive committee consisting of the president, secretary, and one other member will probably be appointed to draw up the plans and begin the actual work. Once under way, it is believed that the movement will enlist the sympathy and co-operation of every patriotic and wide-awake citizen who is able to give it his financial and moral support.

Masters of tempo and artists from lighted a large audience with their in-

Brahms, before the Apollo club last evening. Willy L. Jaffee, a pianist of rare ability, was heard in three movements from the Norwegian composer
—the first a tremulous but rapid preparation for some tremendous upheaval of passion or the elements; the second, a sort of lull before the outbreak;
and the third, an impassioned climax

Stimulating the scalp may allay the itching of the dandruff, but that does not cure the scalp. The disease won't yield to quinine or capicum nor alcohol, because it is caused by a germ or parasite. To cure dandruff the germ must be destroyed. Until recently there was no hair preparation or dandruff cure, or hair restorer on the market that would kill that insidious germ that dries up the scalp in little scales called dandruff, and absorbs the vitality of the hair, causing falling, and finally baldness. New-

ROCK EFELLER CONDONING WITH THE CHRISTMAS TURKEY

wherein the flow of sound alternately leaped in splendid cascades and became like the surf against the rocky walls of the northern fjords. This first violin wandered off on a won-derous little excursion among the stars in the palpitating nocturno movement from Borodin, and was an important force in the brilliant finale from the same composer. Hugo Bach's measured and sonorous cello notes and the plaintive melody of the viola played by Albert Fink were heard to advantage in the leisurely third movement from Schubert, and with the second violin of Herman Kolbe, formed a gorgeous background also for the sprightly second movement.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are importantly both essential.
Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.
Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.
The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr.
Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, sweeping the impurities of all nerves,
all tissues, and all blood elements.

The "Night Cure," as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It softens and inflames irritated surfaces, breaks local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, once nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—now, general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

RISEING BREAST

And many other painful and serious ailments from which most mothers suffer, can be avoided by the use of "Mother's Friend." This great remedy is a God-send to women, carrying them through their most critical period with safety and no pain. No woman who uses "Mother's Friend" need fear the suffering and danger incident to birth; for it robs the ordeal of its horror and insures safety to life of mother and child, and leaves her in a condition more favorable to speedy recovery. The child is also healthy, strong and good natured. Our book "Motherhood" is worth its weight in gold to every woman, and will be sent free in plain envelope by addressing application to Bradfield Regulator Co. Atlanta, Ga.

Talking Good for Her. It has been estimated by a famous statistician that a woman talks eight times as much as a man; that she utters on an average 2,500 sentences a day, whereas only 300 come from him. These figures may not be accurate, but the fact remains that the woman who is a great talker is invariably robust and full-cheeked.

Sea Water as Medicine. Sea water as a medicinal beverage, chiefly designed to reduce obesity, has become fashionable at the resorts of the New Jersey coast. Water is brought in from the deep by fishermen far out, where it is safe from pollution.

If You Are Sick

It is because some of the organs of the body are not doing their work well. There is a lack of that nervous energy that gives them motion. Consequently you are weak, worn-out, nervous, irritable, cannot sleep; have headache, indigestion, etc. because there is not sufficient nerve force to keep the organs active and allow them to perform their natural functions. Dr. Miles' Nervine restores health because it restores this nervous energy. It has been sick for a year, and did not know what was the matter with me. I tried many remedies and none of them proved of any value. I heard of Dr. Miles' Nervine, I procured a bottle, and before I had taken half of it I was better. I would have had nervous prostration if I had not got this medicine when I did. I continued to take it until I was entirely well. I have since recommended it to five of my best friends, and they have all thanked me for doing so, for it benefited them all. MRS. ROSE OTTO, Columbus, Ohio. Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the little bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

"There was George Elliot, you know. At least I suppose you know."
"Oh, of course when a woman is a genius."
"The Greeks thought mainly beauty—not the feminine—the highest type."
She was such a combination, he inwardly mused, of ignorance and learning.

"Oh, but the Greeks! That was a little back-handed, as Pop Morningstar would say."
"More pretentious than me of it, the moment."
"It is. That isn't what I mean. But a woman must be interesting looking; not a guy. She must be pleasing."
"You mean in order to attract the male?"

"He couldn't help it. He bent back his head and laughed. "You think that of the moment, too?" he asked, quickly, "sublimely as he met her astonishment. "But," he shrugged again, "it seems to be what they're all occupied in doing."
"Are they?" she asked in the wistful way she had of appealing to him.

"It is pitiable, I suppose. But, then," he lifted his eyebrows, "what would you have them do?"

"Your Georgiana would prefer, she told me, the career of a student and a teacher rather than a domestic life."
"My Georgiana?" he repeated in consternation. "Now, why, may I inquire, do you call her mine?"

"You said you loved her," she answered faintly, her eyes on the ground.
"Oh!" he nodded, enlightened. That frivolous remark of his had evidently given her much food for speculation. Would he better tell her he'd only been fooling? But she wouldn't understand or see the point (what was the point, anyway), and somehow he felt an awkwardness in explaining to her that he had lied to her. A more pitiless joke he had surely never perpetrated.

"Georgiana deceives herself," he said. "Georgiana would like to be a fallow in love with, just like Ollie or any other girl. You'll like it yourself some day, Eunice. See if you don't."

"You think Miss Elly is all those things you admire—interesting looking, 'not a guy,' 'pleasing'?"
"Don't you think so?"
"I think her beautiful and graceful."
"Of course she is."
Her head went a little lower as she walked at his side for a moment without speaking.

"Are you afraid of your future, Eunice?" he persisted.
A faint color came into her face. "One thing I am afraid of," she softly answered. "Of a loneliness worse than I have ever known."

"That may be for a little while. But it will pass. You will find a companion in your aunt. You will make friends too. And after awhile, inevitably, there will be a lover, or, rather, lovers."

"You think my aunt will like me?" she asked uncertainly.
"How can she help it?"
"You think I am, then, likeable?"
"I like you."

"Oh," she caught her breath, "do you?"

He felt himself stirred by the soft thrill in her voice. But in some respects he was the stupidest of even his stupid sex, and he did not realize the emotion her words and tone expressed. And if I liked you," he tried to encourage her, "you'll get on with other people. I'm not considered a lumb. So don't you fancy you're going to be lonely."

"But—shall I—ever see you?"
"Surely." He felt touched by her helpless, childlike turning to him, "her first and only friend. "I often go to New York and Washington, where your aunt spends her winters usually. But," he added, a touch of pathos in his tone, "you will soon learn to get on without me, though I seem so necessary to you now."

She made no comment, not even a polite protest.
"You offend me many pleasant surprises, Eunice," he suddenly remarked, knocking some branches from her pathway with his cane. The gallantry, instinctive and unthinking with him, but understandable to her only through books, thrilled her in a way that would have amazed him if he had dreamed of it.

"Pleasant surprises?" she repeated with little questioning.
"You know I thought all along that you were in love with Abe!"
She did not answer at once as she walked with her eyes on the path before her.

"I was aware that you paid me that compliment," she presently spoke in a low voice.
"For which I owe you an apology. It was stupid of me. And very unfortunate to your taste, I admit."

"The fact was he realized that his belief in her infatuation for Abe had been the only thing in his knowledge of her that had seemed to put her on a lower plane than the one on which as 'Miss Wakelet' she would henceforth move. The discovery of her aversion to the farmer's son had placed her at a bound at his side as his equal in every sense, no longer an ignorant country damsel to be indulgently patronized by him and her aunt."

"Why didn't you tell me you despised the fellow?"
"It did not seem worth while explaining."

"Now, you are complimentary! You did not care if I did think poorly of your taste?"
She hesitated. "It is not that I did not care," she faltered. "But what you couldn't see for yourself it didn't seem useful to tell you."

It occurred to him to wonder whether he might have used words of words, which was a constant source of pleasure and amusement to him, would annoy her aunt. In his opinion when she lost it she would have lost one of her charms.

"Then you did care?" he asked.
"Yes," she said simply.
"Why?"

She turned to him with a little deprecating smile and gesture. "You dissect me so! As though you were a scientist and I a specimen. Sometimes it seems to me you could bleed!"
"And you don't like it?"

"It is rather interesting to hear what you will be asking next—and what the things are which you wish to find out."

"It nature the question of most women if a man asks them to talk about themselves."

"Are women more egotistic than men? Fonder of talking about themselves?"

She asked it so simply, evidently seeking only to be instructed.
"What is your own idea about it?" he asked.

"There it is again—dissecting me until I feel myself in shreds!"
"They both laughed and he could not drag his eyes from the sweetness of her face when she smiled."

"Do you know," she said amusingly, "I have often wondered when Abe has protested to me of his 'love,' and when I have 'replied' to it, what it is like. I have never loved any one. There seems to be a distinction between love and affection. Affection is said to be much milder. I don't even know what it is to feel affection."

The confusion seemed almost appalling.
Suddenly she stopped short in the path and looked at him. "All my life," she said earnestly, "I have had a heart hunger that I have never understood—I did not know what it was I hungered and thirsted for—and what the great 'want' place" in my soul meant. But now—I believe," she hesitated, a troubled light in her eyes, as though she groped in dark confusion; "I believe I begin to understand. This strange feeling I have had toward you—ever since you first came here—over before we had ever spoken together—I believe it is—affection."

Kinross gazed at her spellbound. Was she not diverting?
"You dear child," he said, taking her hand in his as though she were ten years old instead of twenty, "you like me? And you find it a 'strange feeling'?"

"At times I have thought I must be mad. I am thinking about you every minute. I seem to have no other life save in the thought of you. It is like a possession, a frenzy. The time while you were away was a midnight blackness to me. Nothing seems to me worth while except you. Is this?" she asked, her voice trembling, "affection?"

The blood surged to Kinross' face. The girl loved him. He was the first man who had crossed the path of her loneliness, and he had come to her as a friend and benefactor—almost as the fairy godmother—and the result was inevitable. Her fancy was fired, and she was in love. It would not be fair to take her seriously. It was only a case of profligacy. She would outgrow it as soon as she met other men and could form some standards of measurement and comparison. One's first experiences of the divine fire did not last. It was merely a preparation for the more sane and reasonable love of comparative maturity.

"I am the first friend you ever had," he told her, "and naturally your feeling is intensified because all you are at present capable of is concentrated on one object."

He felt the absurdity of his cold blooded analysis as his eyes met the fire of hers, but he went on:
"Wait until you have learned to know your aunt and others and have met with many people who are kind to you, and then no one person will so entirely fill your mind."

They walked on in silence and thoughtfulness. Kinross felt himself stirred to the depths of him, and yet what his own feelings toward her might be he did not even stop to consider, so accustomed he was to thinking of himself as invulnerable.

This, then, was why she had so fastened upon his flippant declaration that he "loved" Georgiana! Well, better that she should think so. The sooner would she get over this exaggerated state of feeling toward him. Though perhaps she must suffer a bit, for a few weeks, in the process, poor little girl! His heart softened to her with a wonderful tenderness.

"Will you tell me something?" she broke in upon his musings. "Did you and Miss Elly ever see each other before you met here?"

"No, Eunice."
"But she spoke of you when you were away, calling you 'Dr. Kinross'?"
"She knows of me."

"Are you, then, a man of fame?" she inquired with interest, though her voice had a note of melancholy deeper than her habitual pensive tone.

"Not outside the village in which I live, Eunice."

He saw that she was looking deeply perplexed.
"What was it Georgiana said of 'Dr. Kinross'?" he inquired, not without a steely feeling that he was taking a mean advantage of Georgiana.

"Miss Parks, in that picturesque way she has of speaking, said to Miss Elly, 'You will do him brown.' And, 'You are as good as engaged to him.' But Miss Elly seemed to have some doubts about it. She said, 'I am not so sure.'"

MICHIGAN BANK IS CLOSED BY OFFICIAL

STATE TREASURER GLAZIER'S INSTITUTION IN TROUBLE.

ACTION TO AVOID RUN

Funds of State, About $384,000, Probably Safe—Course Adopted Was Forced by Five Detroit Banks.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 3.—In order to avoid a threatened run on the bank Tuesday and to afford all depositors and creditors an equal chance in the settlement of the bank's affairs, State Banking Commissioner Zimmerman Monday announced that the Chelsea Savings bank would not open for business Tuesday.

The president of the bank in State Treasurer Frank P. Glazier, who has deposited in the bank approximately $384,000 of the funds of the state of Michigan, Attorney General Dird said Monday night that the state is protected by the state treasurer's bond of $150,000 and the bank's bond of $200,000, so that the state would not suffer any loss unless the assets of the bank should fall to pay 50 cents on the dollar, which is considered altogether improbable.

Result of Official Conference. The announcement that the bank would not open Tuesday came at the close of a conference here between Gov. Warner, Banking Commissioner Zimmerman, Attorney General Dird and representatives of five Detroit banking concerns, the People's State Savings bank, the Old Detroit National, the First National, the Citizens' Savings bank and the Union Trust company.

It is stated that the banking commissioner has been closely scrutinizing the affairs of the Chelsea Savings bank for some time in connection with the private business of State Treasurer Glazier and that of the Glazier Store company, of Chelsea. The impression was held that if Mr. Glazier could pull these latter interests through, the bank would not necessarily fall into difficulties.

Action Forced by Detroit Banks. The five Detroit banks mentioned, however, in the conference announced a decision to petition for a receiver for the Glazier Store company, in order to protect approximately $600,000 of paper which they are reported to have been carrying for Mr. Glazier and the store company. This action on the part of the banks, it was thought, would cause a run on Mr. Glazier's bank, and the closing of the bank was decided upon by Commissioner Zimmerman in order to protect all interests alike. The bank is capitalized for $100,000, and has a surplus of about $100,000. Mr. Glazier is reported to be sick at his home in Chelsea, and was not present at the conference.
